You fired her a year ago.
Now she's come back to haunt you.

Although your case for termination was well documented, she's taking advantage of today's legal climate and suing you for wrongful termination. For decades, we've been defending these cases throughout the country—aggressively, efficiently, and with your larger business goals in mind. We can also help you avoid them via the right policies, training and procedures. So you can make her, and others like her, disappear for good. Contact us online or call (866) 424-2168.
