There's a New Sheriff in Town! Be Prepared for Sweeping Workplace Safety Changes

If OSHA has fallen off your radar screen, it is time to put it back on. OSHA has been changing recently and more changes are on the way. Employers should expect a continued shift away from the government's recent emphasis on cooperative efforts with employers to a more aggressive enforcement approach.

This seminar will review the essential elements of OSHA compliance and an effective workplace safety and health program, with an eye to preparing for increased civil and criminal enforcement, as well as the use of safety issues by unions and a growing group of whistleblowers. The seminar will also explain how, when used properly, safety compliance can be a "profit center" and not another administrative cost.

Finally, we will cover the latest hot topics in labor and employment law, including the proposed regulations for the ADA amendments.

Speakers:

Edwin G. Foulke Jr., Partner

Prior to joining Fisher & Phillips, Ed was the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health. Named by President George W. Bush to head OSHA, he served from April 2006 to November 2008.

Joseph P. Shelton, Partner

Joe counsels and defends employers on a wide array of employment legal matters and assists employers in drafting employment agreements of all types. He conducts on-site training on complying with the various employment laws.
